ALBERT EMBANKMENT FORESHORE NIGHT WORKS

We recently resumed some construction activities on site following review and implementation of safety measures to ensure work can be conducted under the current guidelines. This work included installing two lines of metal sheet piles in the river bed directly under Vauxhall Bridge.

Our next phase of works requires us to install metal sheet piles in the river bed to construct our third cofferdam structure, a dry working area built into the river, south-west of Vauxhall Bridge. Due to the proximity of the works to the existing London Underground infrastructure, we need to install two lines of piles at night when the tube is not running.

We are using a push-piling method, where the piles are pushed into the riverbed, to minimise any potential noise impact. The push-piling machine will be powered by a generator that will be covered by an acoustic structure to reduce any impacts.

The piling work is due to start on Sunday 14 June with night working hours from 21:00 to 07:00 Sunday to Thursday. Piling will be restricted to 01:00 to 05:00 which is when the tube is not operating. We expect these piles to take approximately seven to nine weeks to complete. In preparation for this work to start, we will be moving our jack-up barge from its current location by our second cofferdam, to the other side of Vauxhall Bridge, during a night shift week commencing Monday 1 June.

If you have any questions or would like to discuss the upcoming works with the team, we are hosting two virtual drop-in sessions where you can speak to the team. If you are interested in joining one of these meetings, please email helpdesk@tideway.london.

The meetings will be held on: Tuesday 26 May, 15:00 – 17:00 and Thursday 28 May, 17:00 – 19:00.

Alternatively, one of our team would be happy to call you at your convenience. Please send your preferred contact method and an appropriate time for someone to contact you to our helpdesk.
